From morning fog in the hills, past the chapel of Switzerland's patron saint, to sun sparkling on a lake. After a good breakfast at Bethanien Monastery, we walked down to Flüeli-Ranft. The views over the lake were just amazing as the mist had settled on it with blue sky above. The walk was very enjoyable and to visit Ranft, the hermitage of St. Nicholas of Flüe, the patron saint of Switzerland in this context, was very special. We stopped at the little shop to buy cards and the lady there was from the Community of Bethanian, where we had stayed, and Sue chatted a while with her in French. From there we walked down to the lake and then along to Giswil. We visited a last church which stands on the 'Way' from which we had a view of the Brunig Pass which was to be our next stage. We had never thought to get this far on this part of our journey! We took the train to Stans, picked up the car and then drove to Beckenried to take the car ferry to Gosau and then drove back to the flat in Wald with the sun setting on the first part of this amazing adventure.
